Pitzer College Art Galleries will host one full-time Getty Marrow intern for a ten-week period between June 2, and August 22, 2025

The Getty Marrow Undergraduate Internship program offers experience in museum and visual arts careers through full-time paid summer internships for college students from backgrounds that have been underrepresented in the arts.

The internship is intended for students who demonstrate interest in museum and visual arts professions and who add diverse and underrepresented perspectives, which can include—among other things—socioeconomic status, cultural background, physical or other disability, geographical origin and/or any other life experiences.

Communication Internship at PCAG

The Communications Intern position offers hands-on experience in digital content creation aiming to deepen public engagement with Pitzer College Art Galleries. The intern will gain hands-on experience in social media strategy, digital marketing, and web development, applying best practices in digital communications within an academic gallery setting. Key responsibilities include creating and implementing social media strategies, building and updating web pages, and developing a research-based digital project that aligns with exhibitions, collections, and institutional history. Through this project, the intern will explore and apply storytelling techniques that support the Galleries' mission to showcase contemporary art and foster educational experiences.

Requirements

Previous museum experience is not required. Applicants must be currently enrolled undergraduates who will have completed one semester of college by June 2025. Seniors may apply. (Individuals who have received a prior BA, BS, or higher degree are not eligible.) Interns must be residents of or attending college in Los Angeles County. The internship provides a stipend of $7,150.00, which is subject to payroll taxes.

The intern will attend learning events sponsored by the Getty Trust during the internship period and will be required to submit a detailed report at its conclusion.
